A gentleman who saw and conversed with Gerrit Smith, shortly after the affair at Harper's Ferry, told us that he was insane-not merely excited by fear and agitated by the emotions which his complicity in the affair night produce, but mentally deranged. " MY DEAR SIR : Gerrit Smith was brought to our asylum yesterday, and is quite deranged, intellectually as well as morally, and he is also feeble physically. He refused to take an anodyne, alleging that they wanted to put him to sleep for the purpose of boxing him up and taking him to Virginia. When informed that he must take it, voluntarily or by compulsion, he opened the door and screamed (into the hall) 'I protest.' He then took it. I deem his madness a sign of the times. Want of Confidence in Napoleon. An Italian correspondent of the Independent says that ever since the battle of Magenta, the French army has lost confidence in the Emperor Napoleon as a gen-eral, on account of what took place on that day. The correspondent says:

I have the fact on the best authority, from a Captain Ever opened in this City. We are also receiving weekly Solferino, and who confirmed his statements which were as follows: "You remember," he said, "that famous order of the day, and the telegram to the Empress after Magenta? He said: 'A division of the Imperial Guard has covered itself with glory! For a whole day it has sustained the shock of forty thousand Austrians,' etc. Now, how do you explain that on the morrow, McMa-CHENE and STRIPED SILKS;

"Why," said I, "it was on account of the timely help he brought to the victorious but exhausted Guard." "Not in the least," replied the captain, "et voila comme en ecrie l'histoire;" I was there and I can tell you what nobody will dare to publish in France, though it is as true as the Gospel. When the lamous order of the day concerning the Guards became known among the first corps, McMahon's, a great irritation prevailed, amountine almost to rebellion. 'Since all the glory is always given to the corps chitri, (they call thus the privileged Guards,) let them fight alone! we will not do anything more! Early in the morning McMahon, sharing the anger of his soldiers, went to the Emperor and told him in what state of mind his troops were charging him with injustice to those who had, in fact, won the battle, and saved him (the Emperor) from the greatest danger. Napoleon was surprised. What have you done?" said he to McMahon: "why did you come so late, after I sent you so many orders to come to Magenta?" McMahon then begged the Emperor to follow him; he showed him on the ground strewn for several miles with the bodies of his dead soldiers, that he, McMahon, had to fight and overcome the bulk of the Austrian army in order to reach Magenta, and join the Emperor, that but for his timely coming the Empethe whole battle that which he had witnessed, and which was only an episode, and the least part of it! It was then, in order to quiet the murmuring soldiers of McMahon, that he made the latter Duke and Marshal; but, ever since the egregious mistake of Magenta, there is not an officer or a soldier in the army who has the least faith in the military genius of the Emperor."

Pat and the Wedded Pair.

"Last month General Sampson Dove, of Winepusa married the darter of the American Keounsel (consul) to a stranger?" "Never," I said. "Well, that's a crue pity, for you would have 'seen a peeler,' I tell you—a real corn fed gal, and no mistake. Just what Eve was, guess, when she walked about the garden, and angels come to see her—not so everlastin' thin and vapoy, like sunbeams. Well, they first went to Killarney on a wedding 'tower,' and after they stared at the lovely place till they hurt their eyes, they came down here to see the Groves of Blarney, and what not. Well, the gineral didn't want folks to know they were only just married, for the people always run to the winders and out doors to look at a bride, as if she was a bird that was only seen once in a hundred years. It's on-convenient, that's a fact, and it makes a sensitive, delecate-minded gal feel Pat: 'Pat,' says he, 'don't go now and tell folks we are only just married; lie low and keep dark, will you? that's a good fellow.' So, says he, one day, 'Pat,' says he, 'I hope you did not tell them we were only just married, did you?" 'Tell them you was just married, is it, yer honor?' said I, let me alone for that! They were mightily inquisitive about it, and especially the master-he wanted to know all about it entirely. But I'll tell you what,' says I, 'if you won't repeat it to nobody, they are going to be married in about a fortnight, for I heard them say so this blessed day, with my own ears.' got."-Dublin University Magazine. The Wreck of the Royal Charter.

By the City of Baltimore we received brief accounts of the wreck of the screw-steamship Royal Charter, and of the tearful loss of life involved therein. We are now in possession of some details of the sad calamity:

It appears that the Royal Charter, when within two from Melbourne,) experienced the full fury of a terrible northwest gale, which prevailed all over England during the nights of the 25th and 26th ultimo. The steam powe the vessel being merely auxiliary, it was insufficient to prevent her from being driven towards the shore and, as the water was rapidly shoaling, it became neces-sary, at about 10 o'clock at night, to let go the anchors —guns having been previously fired and rockets discharged in the hopes of attracting a pilot, but without success. The gale meantime increased to a perfect hurricane, and at 2 o'clock in the morning the port anchor chain parted, and shortly afterwards the ship was beating on the rocks in a place called Mcelfra Bay, near Puffin Island, on the coast of Anglesca. The masts were cut away, but without any beneficial result. About daylight (6 o'clock) a sailor, with a cord tied around his waist, jumped overboard, and, although the sea ran tremendously high, he succeeded in reaching and maintaining a footing on the rocky shore, which was not more than ten yards distant from the ship, but was almost perpendicular to the height of forty feet. A hawser was then got ashore, and a boatswain's chair was attached to it, with a view of hauling the passengers and crew ashore. About a dozen seamen were by this means soon landed, and it was hoped that all on board might be saved. At about 7 o'clock, however, the waves beating against the ship's broadside with continued violence, she suddenly snapped as under a midships and tumbled in pieces. As the passengers had mostly kept below, large numbers were killed by the crashing debris, and only twenty-six persons managed to get ashore, making the whole number saved only thirty-nine out of a total (passengers and crew) of four hundred and ninety-three. The destruction of the ship was rapid and complete, so that by eight o'clock nothing was visible but masses of wreck, mingled with the bodies of the dead, washed on the strand. The vessel had on board (supposed) 70,000 ounces of gold, besides a large number of sovereigns. Estimates of the total value ranged from £500,000 to £800,000, and hopes were entertained that this might be recovered by divers. Of the persons on board the Royal Charter when she left Australia, sixty-three were cabin passengers, 325 other passengers, and 123 crew—total 511. Of these seventeen were landed at Queenstown and thirty-nine were saved from the wreck, so that the total loss of life was four hundred and fifty-five.

Duplin Agricultural Fair.

The Fair of the Duplin County Agricultural Society, held near Kenansville, on Thursday and Friday of last week, was, upon the whole, the most successful exhibition which has yet been made there.

The weather was much more favourable than that which prevailed last year, and consequently the attendance of people, and the display of articles, was larger .-We need not speak of the effects of the weather upon physical comfort, nor of its reaction upon the mental feelings. Although, last year, the kind and social disposition of the people assembled kept them in good huhow, with the addition of favourable atmospheric influences, these kindly characteristics could have been dis. dress he says :played under more favourable circumstances.

As usual Floral Hall was the most attractive portion of the Fair, for reasons easily to be understood, and which did appear to be fully appreciated by a young gentleman who spoke to us thereof quite feelingly. Although wounded, we think he will recover. We prescribed homeopathic treatment; -similia similibus etc.

The articles of domestic manufacture, whether intended for purposes of ornament or of use exhibited taste and skill on the part of the wives and daughters of old Duplin, while the specimens of domestic wines, preserves, cakes, fruits, pickles, &c., showed that the arts of housekeeping were not neglected.

In Farmers' Hall the number of articles on exhibition was larger than last year, and in some respects better. The specimens of potatoes, pumpkins, beets, and other products of this kind, were superior to those presented at the State Fair, in kind though not in variety. The number of bushels of corn per acre, to which the prize number of bushels of corn per acre, to which the prize Higher Alutin.—Lady Morgan says, in one of her works, was awarded, ranged, we believe, in the neighborhood of "that one of the things worth a visit to Paris, is the exninety. There were some very fine specimens of wheat, sembles confectionery, so light and so perfumed that it realthough this can hardly be regarded as forming a staple of sweet flowers." in Duplin. Hams, lard, and other things of that kind, were present in such delightful order as to tempt, if not overcome, the most conscientious observer of the law of

The show of live hogs accounted in some measure for the excellence of the hams. There was one hog weighing between four and five hundred pounds, that was not two years old, and others of all ages and of all sizes, but all large for their age, and very big for their size. In this matter Duplin is hard to beat.

We regret to say that the show of cattle, although good enough, was not yet up to the mark. We think Duplin can do better yet. In fact this part of her exhibition was not, and has not yet been, up to the standard reached by other departments.

There was some good trotting. We learn that one horse, a Northern trotting stallion, made the mile, of three rounds in 2 49 1-2 and 2 52. The show of horses was not large, and the show of agricultural implements almost too small to leave room for a choice .-Several things arrived too late for entry, among the rest a fine young filly belonging to Mr. Monk, of Magnolia. There were all manner of feathered bipeds, almost. Shanghais, game cocks, and other chickens; geese, ducks, turkeys, etc., likewise and o'possum and a 'coon

On Friday, the orator of the occasion, W. S. Devane. Esq., of Sampson, was introduced to the audience assembled in the grove in front of Floral Hall, by W. A. Allen, Esq., of Duplin, who alluded to the close community of feeling existing between the two Counties, Sampson being as it were the daughter of Duplin from which she had been taken. Duplin was not unmindful of the relationship and had on this occasion honored herself by inviting a gifted citizen of her daughter county to deliver the annual address before her Agricultural

Mr. Devane apologized for his limited acquaintance with the subject of agriculture-extremely limited, as with the subject of agriculture—extremely limited, as compared with that possessed by many of those whom arrived here from New Mexico and the Pike's Peak region, he had the honor to address. He regretted that his avocations in another profession, left him so little leisure to study the principles or pursue the practice of a calling which seemed, above all others, to have been blessed by Providence-in which the wisest of the ancients, and noblest of the moderns were pleased to seek independence and happiness; at which Cincinnatus labored when called to the dictatorship of the state, to which Virgil and Cicero brought the charms of poetry and eloquence-to Cicero brought the charms of poetry and eloquence—to Oregon advices announce the arrival of Gen. Scott at which—noblest exampler of all—Washington retired Portland on the 21st. He was handsomely received. Gen. amid the shades of his loved Mount Vernon.

But although conscious of his own short-comings, aware of his own lack of practical or even theoretical knowledge sufficient to instruct an audience upon this subject, he was yet proud to bring his mite however small-to bear his tribute, however humble, to the promotion of the cause of agricultural improvement in his native State. North Carolina after long years of almost criminal apathy, was at length roused to the necessity of exertion in order that she might keep pace with the progress of the age, and avail herself of the countless advantages which Providence, with a liberal hand, had lavished upon her. But she was still short of doing all that she ought to do. She was not yet as wide awake as she ought to be to her own true interests. She still paid tribute to others for things which she herself ought to produce. With every variety of soil-with nearly every species of mineral-with the most deversified productions-with a healthful climate, and a highly moral population, why should not North Carolina take her posi tion in the front ranks of wealth and prosperity? He trusted that the day was at hand when she would do so. He looked upon these fairs and other institutions of a similar character, as movements in the right direction.

Mr. D. proceeded to further illustrate his subject and point to its different bearings for something over an hour. His address was highly appreciated and much

The Excitement_Harper's Ferry.

There is no mistaking the fact that the excitement arising out of this most unhappy affair is gaining intensity daily. The Richmond Dispatch of Monday, speaks of the bitterness and alienation of feeling already produced there, and also of the belief gaining ground, that from the conservatism of the North, there is little to hope .be fixed upon, to select delegates to represent this district Following this conviction, if not resulting from it, comes a determination to be prepared for every emergencyto be surprised at nothing. Offers of military assistance have poured in from the whole South. It is now, the topic of conversation.

It was conceived and admirably delivered. Mr. McDowell proved himself to be not only a practical farmer, but a gen tleman who has thought and read much upon all subjects. THE CORN TRADE OF 1859 AND 1860 .- As we intimated might be the case some days ago, the receipts of wheat begin to fall off, and unless the recent advances in price reewedly stimulate farmers to sell, it is probable that the receipts of that grain at this point will not exceed 40,000 bushels per day until next spring. But the receipts of corn, on the other hand, continue to augment, and the subject of the great interest in the State of Illinois for the next six months will be the movement of the corn-crop, which prom ises to be eight to ten times larger in quantity than that of wheat, and the surplus beyond the requirements for home consumption will probably exceed that of any previous year. - Chicago Democrat.

Fayetteville Observer, 21st inst. THE STEAMER DE SOTO IN DISTRESS-HAVANA MARKETS. New Orleans, Nov. 19.—The steamship De Soto, Capt. Bulloch, which left this port on the 12th inst., bound for New York, arrived at Havana on the 15th inst, with only one wheel in running order, the other having been disabled on the voyage. It is probable she will continue her voyage, as no fears are entertained but that she will be enabled to reach New York in safety. She has only seven passengers on board for New York, and $6,000 in specie. The firm feeling noticed of late in the Havana sugar market has since continued, and quotations are regarded as one half real higher during the week. The finer qualities, however, are not in large demand at the improvement, but in the lower descriptions there is considerable speculative feeling apparent. The stock both at Hayana and at Matanzas is diminishing being now placed at 95,000 boxes.

Freights to American ports rule dull, with a declining tendency. The actual charters that have recently been effected have been at 90 cents to $1 per box for sugar, and $2 to $2 12\frac{1}{2} per hhd. for molasses.

Crittenden and John Brown. When the members of the ill-fated expedition of Lope perished by martial law at the hands of the Cuban author ies, the Northern press, with but little exception, express its approbation of their doom. But the Black Republican ubilant with delight; they rioted in the scene of slaughter in all their ranks, but from every eye beams of delight, from

The victims of this fillibustering effort to overthrow th oung men, conspicuous among whom was young Crittenen, nephew of the distinguished Senator from Kentucky. They had been enticed from their homes by representation that the people of Cuba were eager to strike a blow for in dependence. We do not justify now, as we never have justified, that foray into the territory of a peaceful neighbor We have always believed, and we now believe more than my of Spain, and draw close the bonds of an entente cordial between ourselves and an ingenuous, gallant and hospitable people, who possess institutions and characteristics in many resembling those of the people of our own sunny clime. But these thoughtless and adventurous young men, instigated and assisted by the agents of Northern capitalists, whose commerce is more interested than the South can possibly be in the acquisition of Cuba, all expiated their bold and mid day nvasion with their blood, and the press which now sympa hizes with the midnight incendiary, Brown, made the

kin ring with a shout of satisfaction. Crittenden and his companions had no trial by jury, no opportunity of defence, no lei-ure to prepare for another word; but each and every one was shot down at once under martial law. Brown, even, according to his own showing, has had a fair trial; h has been permitted to have counsel of his own from the Northern States, he has been allowed to make incendiary speeches in his own defence, and having been tried and convicted in due process of law, he was not hung up at once as he deserved, but his execution deferred for thirty days, and during the interval he is treated, according to his own dec larations, with a humanity and tenderness that render it unnecessary even for his own wife to be at his side. Yet, the eyes that looked with stony glare upon the pool of youthful blood in Cubs, are now dropping floods of hypocritical tears over this man's fate, and the voices that were then heard only in expatiation, are now howling like wild animals, that have lost their mates. Finally, the age, character and bearing of most of the fillibusters might have elicited the sympathy even of those who approved their doom. Crittenden, a mere boy, full of manly and ingenuous impulses, leaving behind him foud and dear hearts at his fireside, and allied by blood with one of the most national of American statesn and eloquent of American orators, wi h a long life of usefulness and distinction before him, shot down in the very morning of his life, and dying like a hero, without one word of complaint or one prayer for human mercy—ah, that was a sweet-smelling sacrifice to the Demon of Abolition. But this Old Brown, this common horse thief and murderer, this plotter of the most horrible crimes and bloodshed among an unoffending people, this veteran sinner, who has nothing to offer justice but the wreck of an ill-spent life—he is a hero, he is a martyr, he is a dying apostle; nay, in the language of that disgusting pedant and blaspheming infidel, Ralph Waldo Emerson, "he converts the gallows into a cross!"

But gregated, which literally equalled the roar of Niagara. But the sights and sounds that greeted us as we neared the swamp, beggars description. There were probably a hundred hunters assembled and at work. These were divided into parties of not more than two or three—some in the tameracks, and some in the alders. At a shot in the bushes the birds rose in a mass and settled in the trees; and when fired upon there they flew to the bushes. This changing continued all night. At a single shot, the flock always rose and flew a short distance to settle or be fired upon again. This scene lasted all night. The usual mode of hunt-

Sound Northern View of the Plea of Inc The Belleville (Illinois) Democrat contains the fe ing able and conservative article on the negro mania :

AGREED AT LAST. The Abolition papers of the country, in speaking Harper's Ferry insurrection, now that it has proven a perfect failure, say that Brown, Cooke, and their co-adators in this rebellion were insane. That they were mad fools, monomaniacs, insane, and all that sort of thing. In all this we agree with them, word for word. Not a shadow of doubt about the fact of their insanity! They were most unquestionably insane-fanatics-monmaniacs. And so are all the Abolitionists throughout the length and breadth of the land. Abolitionism itself is the development of a badly balanced mind that has pored too long over an impracticable scheme, that requires a preponderance of the vicious propensities of the heart to execute. A man can never be a full fledged the country, and to break the laws of God and man as a supposed duty. All abolitionists are insane on that point And there are thousands of them throughout the by Brown carried out, if it could be done without en- and their daughter, who had been confined to her bed by dangering their necks! Seward and Giddings, Garrison, Lincoln, Fred Douglass are, before God, to blame for the crime of poor, insane Kansas Brown! They entertain and promulgate the doctrine; they stay at home, write, make speeches and nanufacture a public sentiment, to carry out which poor, insane Brown and his sons die. They do more than write and make speeches-they furnish material aid. They forward money and munitions of destruction to Brown, expressly to go into the hands of the uprising negro mob to murder their own masters with; and write tters of sympathy and encouragement. They are a housand fold more to blame than fool Brown and his Important Imperial Decree. The Reception of the Il-fated sons. But even they—those leaders are not so much to blame in all this as another class of society, who act behind the screen. We mean the Ministers of the Gospel, and the christian communities of the North who have indirectly gotten this state of things up. Instead of attending to their own legitimate duties, they have stepped aside with puritanical obtrusiveness, to force the South to embrace their own views of moral duty. They have closed the record of holiness, became silent about sins at home, and all gone off in a crusade against the sins of a distant people. This Harper's Ferry affair, as far as their usefulnes s concerned, will dumb-strike a thousand pulpits in the North! What, we ask, is the legitimate tendency of all these abolition demonstrations? Inflammatory speeches, vindictive resolutions, rabid lectures? 'I hese migrant aid societies? What did their founders in tend to do? What object had Beecher, and Cheever, and Douglas, and all those frenzied, hot-brained, crazied crowds, in view, when they raised such a raid towards Kansas? Follow that demonstration into Kansas and you there see what they intend to do! Violence, rapine and murder marked the progress of that fanatic crusad throughout the distracted Territory. And those Sharpe's rifles were not sanctified by the benediction of such an Apostle as Beecher to remain idle. O. no! When no longer needed in bleeding Kansas they were shipped lodged in an underground depot, to be put into the hands of rebellious negroes to murder their masters with. We reiterate that the Ministers of the Gospel and those christian societies of the North, who have abandoned the policy of christianity and entered into this grand aggressive demonstration against the rights of their Southern brethern, are, before God, and at the bar of an intelligent world, more to blame for this Harper's Ferry ebellion and blood than all other-even than insanse Brown. Seward and Giddings, Chase, Garrison, Lincoln, Trumbull, and other politicians, have not made this state of things. They find it in existence already and use it, as politicians, merely to subserve their own ends.-They are only incidentally involved in the evil, just as they would be in Mormonism, or spirit rapping, it such could be made to promote their ends.

From the Richmond Enquirer. Character of John Brown, the Murderer and Negro Stealer.

The following is a copy of a letter recently received by a prominent citizen of this State: KANSAS CITY, Mo., November 2, 1859. Although unknown to you, personally, the mosive which prompts me—a desire to see an unexampled villian receive his deserts at the hand of justice-will, I hope, be my pardoned excuse for this letter. By the telegraph I see John Brown's pluck as exhibited in his trial and the late disturbance at Harper's Ferry, have excited in your breast, as would naturally be the case with every chivalric man, an admiring sympathy. My purpose is to relate to you a passage in Brown's life that may place his true character before you. He stated in his conversation with Senator Mason, Mr. Vallandingham, and others, that save in fair fight, he never shed human blood. In June, 1856, a series of the most dastard murders were perpetrated on Potowatomie Creek. Mr. Wilkinson, an inoffensive and quiet farmer, who had never taken up arms in Kansas. was dragged from the side of his wife, who had been confined but two or three days before, and had his head split open, his throat cut, and his hands cut off, and his body and members thus mutilated, thrown back into the house at the feet of his wife. On the same night, the houses of two brothers, named Doyle, were entered by the same band, eight in number; they were taken from their beds and foully murdered. That night five murders were committed by that party of eight Kansas outlaws. These murders brought on the difficulties that devastated the Territory in the summer and autumn of 1856, as you may remember. Mrs. Wilkinson, a younger brother of the Doyles, and every one conceded thes brutal murders were committed by John Brown, who has just been convicted in Jefferson county, Va. Samuel Walker, who took Capt. Titus, in 1856, no sheriff of Douglas county, K. T., and a prominent Free State man, with Carmi Babcock, President of the late Council (Senate) of the Territorial Legislature, on Sunday last had a quarrel with Thatcher, editor of the "Republican," an abolition newspaper in Lawrence, who justified those murders. Walker and Babcock denounced them. Walker said he had a large party of men, Brown among them; that late in the evening Brown came to him to get permission to take a party to execute some pro-slavery men. Walker refused. took his son and six more men, making eight, and went off. That night the murders above enumerated were committed; and the next morning old Brown rode up to a wagon and threw into it a sabre, bloody from the hilt to the point, saying at the time, with a fiendish smile 'don't that look like it had done some work?' Walker said that night's horrors made a lunatic of Brown's son, who is, I believe, still so; that on his return next morning he was mad; that he rode day and night without a heed; and was perpetually starting as from some terrible object. Walker added: "These were the most brutal murders I ever heard of; and when told of them I expected the Missourians would come over and murder every Free State man in the Territory." These are simple facts and will, I hope, disabuse you mind of any mistaken feeling of mercy you may have entertained for this human fiend. THE FASHIONS IN PARIS .- The Fashion editor of the Boston Post makes the following report:

" In ladies dresses the style of the First Empire is said to be the prevailing tendency now in Paris. In an old Columbia Centinel we find a letter from Paris which gives an idea what that style was. It says, describing an evening costume-" The dress was a loose musli robe, drawn up and festooned at the right knee so as to show the whole of the leg. The robe passed under the left breast, which was left entirely naked, and was fastened above the left hip. Both arms were naked from 'he shoulder; their length was relieved only by two bracelets. Gov. Wise Prayed For.

A portion of the pious wing of the Black Republican party of New York city, held a prayer meeting last Monday night in the lecture room of Dr. Cheever's Church on Union square. The Harper's Ferry treason was extolled, and prayers were offered up for John Brown & Company. A "well dressed colored woman" was among the speakers. One speaker suggested that Brown and Smith and the slaves were not the only proper subjects of prayer. "They ought to pray (said he) for Gov. Wise. He did not want to be misunderstood, but he would compare Gov. Wise, of Virginia, to Pontius Pilate; and if he had a wife he hoped she would be troubled in her dreams, as Mrs. Pilate was until she went to the Governor where men could not reach him, and begged of him to have nothing to do with that just man. Possibly when the Governor heard of the vast crowds which were going to see the public spectacle of colored men hanging in the forenoon and white men in the afternoon, he would be afraid of a tumult which he could not stop, and wash his hands of the whole matter. Perhaps the people would say, as they said of old: "His blood be upon us and our children." If so, he begged he might not be one of them. Perhaps prayer might turn the heart of Governor Wise, as the heart of Ahashuerus was turned : it was a little thing for God to turn. And who could tell, that as Paul was converted by the meeting streams of prayer that followed him from Jerusalem, and that met him from the Christians that he went forth to persecute, so Gov. Wise might be converted, and become an apostle of freedom as Paul was of the Gospel Perhaps prayer might compel him to call the Legislature together, if necessary, to stop that execution.

Thank Heaven the population of the Metropolis of the country is not composed wholly of such blasphemers. dow ! If it were, our Union, cemented though it be with patriot blood, could not last another day.

DARING ATTEMPT TO RUN OEF SLAVES .- The Pedlars. -Since the Harper's Ferry invasion the country people of Virginia and Maryland have been very prompt in ordering Northern pedlars out of the States. A few days since suspicion rested on a Dr. Boyd, who has been for some time peddling French goods in Maryland, and on his last visit to Westminster, Md., his cargo was inspected. The Washington Star says:

His attention was called to the fact that a shoe was nissing from one of his horses, and while he had gone with the horse to a blacksmith shop, the opportunity was taken to inspect his team. Amongst his traps was noticed an oblong box, with some suspicious holes bored in the cover. Boyd, seeing that an inspection was going on, came from the blacksmith shop in a hurry, and assured the searchers that the box contained nothing but "French goods." They choose to look for themselves, and ripping off the box cover, lo! there were ensconsed a negro man and his wife, with provisions, clothing, etc., and all things necessary to enable the darkies to "keep house" until they reached the other side of Mason & Dixon's line. The box was large enough to enable them to turn in it, but not to sit up. Neither of these slaves are the property, as stated, of Clark Mills, but the woman belongs to a Mr. Howell, who rents a place of Mr. Mills. Mrs. Howell, of Washington, went before Justice Goddard this morning, and testified that she had visited the Westminister jail, and recognized the negro woman there, (who was found boxed up as above described) as her servant. The District Attorney was consulted, and gave order for a requisition to be forwarded to the Governor of Maryland for the delivery of mighty cataract and its surroundings in the album kept Boyd to the authorities here for trial.

U. S. TROOPS FOR BROWNSVILLE.—Norfolk, Nov. 19.— Eight companies of U. S. Troops from Old Point, have been ordered to Brownsville immediately. They will be com-manded by Col. Brown.

COLD COMPORT.—The Walterboro' Sun says: We overheard a conversation during Court week, be tween a distinguished attorney from Charleston and a no less distinguished son of Colleton which we think is too good to be lost. The attorney in question had just concluded an able speech—beneficial to his client and a credit to himself—and was on his way to the hotel, when he was joined by our Colleton friend, who remarked:
"Colonel, you had a very hard time to day." The legal gentleman replied that he had—owing to a severe hoarseness. "Yes," resumed our Colleton friend, " and it was quite as hard work for me to listen to you, as I took a sound 'snooze' while you were speaking." would be superfluous.

THE IRISH REVENUE .- A Parliamentary return shows the following to be the net produce of the revenue of Ireland paid into the Exchequer in the year ended the 31st of December, 1858: Customs, £2,341,999; excise, $2,899,000; stamps, £543,342; property and income, £356,187; small branch of the hereditary revenue, £300; miscellaneous, including repayment of advances, £336,800. Total, £6,677,691. The actual public income of Ireland for the same period was, however, £7. 676,678; and the expenditure, £6,671,573, leaving a balance in the Exchequer at the end of the year of £1. 005,104. The amount received from rents and other sources of land revenue in Ireland in 1858, was £48. 712 5s. 10d., after deducting income tax.

No TIME LOST IN LISTENING TO ADVICE.-We do not lower ourselves by listening to advice. Solomon was accustomed to listen to the teachings of nature and the Almighty. Good advice in a fit time has saved many men from ruin. Advice is desirable from many sources. We obtain it from friends—we obtain it from our enemies-we obtain it from our superiors and our inferiors. We gather it from our books-we gather it from our experience, and more than all, we have it from the voice that speaks within. We read it from the page of Holy Writ. Even nature herself teaches great lessons of wisdom to us that we must comprehend. Every gemevery blossom, their growth and decay, teach us a plain moral of human life. They teach the brevity of life-its uncertainty and the ever changeableness of earth. We should never feel above receiving instructions. It is the best way of improving time, of saving time, for by so doing we have the benefit of the experience of others, which is one of the greatest helps we can have. Advice is the safeguard to youth, it is the beacon light to his path that keeps him off from the shoals and quicksands. The want of good advice and the disobeying of good advice has ruined thousands. What would our senators, our judges, our great men have made had they not fol-

A BAD PRACTICE AND A BAD HEART.—Cobbett, who lived for more than a year at Hampstead, Long Island. used sometimes to tell laughable stories at the expense Bath elergyman, gives the following as received from

Cobbett's own lips: I was acquainted with a well-disposed young gentleman of large fortune, whose only fault was the habit of swearing-and a babit that he often declared he would give half his fortune to get rid of. This desire came to the ears of a Quaker, who thereupon had an interview with the young gentleman, and said:

" I can cure thee of that bad habit." Whereupon the youth caught hold of the Quaker's hand, gave it a hearty shake, saying: "How can you perfom this miracle?"

The reply was: 'I can tell thee. I have heard that thou art going this day to travel for a period of six weeks. Thou art just my size; nobody will know thee; thou shalt come to my house, put on the cocked hat, the coat without buttons, the knee breeches, and thou will find the arrangement of the dress will have such an effect on thee when thou art going to talk, that it will restrain th from swearing—as thou perhaps knowest, my good friend, that the Quakers never swear." The young man cheerfully assented to the proposal, and accompanied the Quaker to his house; where after changing his clothes, he took his departure in the garb of a Quaker, and went on his way rejoicing. The period of the young gentleman's tour elapsed, the Quaker, all anxiety, started to meet him. Having met him, he said :

" How art thou ?" The reply was:

'Very well." " Hast thou sworn so much with that dress on thee?" The young man, rubbing the sleeve of his coat, rep'ied: "Certainly not, but I feel a d—d inclination to lie!"

A SAMPLE OF THE "SYMPATHY."-A better illustration of "free soil" sympathy has not been lately seen than that described in the following paragraph about a misguided lady from North Carolina:

"An old lady, Mrs. Frances Kindred, is now an inmate of the Warren County (Ohio) Poor House. She formerly resided in Anson county, N. C., and was rich in lands and negroes, but has spent all her property in liberating her slaves. In 1852 she went to Hillsborcugh, Ohio, with her last slave. She has since become so reduced in circumstances as to be compelled to take refuge in a poor house. She and her friends now appeal to philanthropists to contribute enough to get her out of the poor house and place her in a more tolerable institution. Mrs. Kindred is now eighty-three years old.

Those Gin Houses "in Buckram." We have noticed recently in our exchanges reports of extensive gin house conflagrations in Talbot and neighboring counties, as having occurred within the past two weeks. One account reported the number burnt at thirty, another at twenty, a third at seventeen, a fourth at six, while the last number of the Upson Pilot, a paper published in the neighborhood of Talbot county, gives an account of only four gin houses destroyed by fire! This reminds us of the anecdote of the little boy, who ran to his aunt, exclaiming, "Oh, Aunty! the cats made such a noise last night that I could scarcely sleep—there was at least a thousand of them fighting under my win-"Why Johnny!" said his aunt; "how can you exaggerate so?

A Milan letter in the Nord says: "The famous Iron Crown is lost to Lombarby, Austria having made it a question of dignity. We regret that the Conference yielded on this point, not so much from the motive of municipal vanity associated with this external symbol of the past grandeur of Lombardy as for the political significance of the refusal on the part of Austria. Can it be that Austria, not considering the sovereignty of Lombardy as transferred to Victor Emanuel II. retains its insignia, and means thereby to signify that the King de jure is still the Emperor of Austria, and that the temporary occupation of Piedmont does not prejudice his claims to an eventual re-occupation! There is no other reason to justify Austria in her retention of the Crown."

A love-sick traveler from Wisconsin, on his first visit to the Falls had to record his first impressions of the for that purpose, at one of the points of attraction for visitors, in this manner:

"Next to the bliss of seeing Sarah Is that of seeing Niagara."

Statements having appeared in several journals to the people of Charlestown, that he had been treated with following card, which we insert with great pleasure: Some one, apparently moved by spite against the peo-

The facts much excited, and for the best of reasons. Three large fires, the last one consuming over twelve hundred bushels of wheat, had occurred up to last Saturday morning.-Under these circumstance a meeting was held and a very carefully-worded proclamation drawn up and published by Mr. Green, the Mayor, warning strangers giving no satisfactory account of themselves to leave the place .-As I had important and well-understood business in the place, and could have given a satisfactory account, even do it. - Cheraw Gazette. had been on a visit of mere curiosity, I felt sure it did not concern me, particularly as no steps had been taken to call my attention to it. Other strangers, however, who could have accounted for themselves as well as I, thought it applied to them, and very unadvisedly as I think, addressed a note to Col. Davis, himself a stranger in the place I believe, asking him what he thought of it. I happened to be in the room when he entered. I listened to the speeches on both sides in great tranquility of mind, and was preparing to leave the gentlemen to themselves, with the remark that it did not concern me at all, when Col. Davis remarked that he did not know that he could answer for my personal safety if I staid. To this I replied, very civilly, however, that my personal safety was my personal business, not his and that I should not leave until I was quite ready. The conversation dropped there, and I remained, and I could have remained until now, if I desired it. It should be borne in mind that Col. Davis did not volunteer his opinion, or intimate any thing until he was asked to do so, and then it was merely his opinion, privately expressed How it got into the papers I do not know, but I am confident he cannot be held responsible for it. And, though mischief was often threatened by some ill-conditioned people, of whom Charlestown has its share, and citizens whose relations were killed at Harper's Ferry had sternly put down the very threat of it by declaring that no outrage should be done to us or any strangers but over their own dead bodies.

A Fifth Avenue Lady Buying Books. A correspondent of the Newport News tells the following anecdote: A certain New York lady, whom I shall call Mrs. X, recently had the good luck to come into the possession of a handsome fortune. No sooner had this agreeable change in her condition been effected, than she immediately had a "loud call" from the direction of Fifth Avenue, and yielding to the tempter, prevailed upon her husband to abandon his calling as surveyor in provisions and fish, and to purchase a residence in that aristocratic neighborhood. In due time her house was furnished in a style of magnificence which vied with "the best." Keeping her eyes open for every new improvement, she recently discovered that "it was about the right thing" to have books, and desirous of being up with the fashion at once ordered an elegant rosewood book case and started out to purchase the materials wherewith it was to be filled.

With this the lady moved away as majestically as a turkey cock under full sail. In due time the books went, but such was the novelty of the order that, in exercising his taste, the clerk had selected some a little too long, others too short; some bound in Nov. Russia, some in Turkey, some in calf; while the colors of the collection were as variegated as the hues of the Dec. 3 4 Wilmington, the whole batch back, Mrs. X. following close after them, looking as stiff as if she had been poured into gorgeous clothes, like a candle, in a state of liquefaction, and had then "set" "I sent yer books back," said she, "because I told ye to make 'em all of one size and one color in any city, and as cheap for cash, is now offered to the inand them ain't no more alike than a parcel of nigger spection of the public, at No. 10, Front Street, Wilmington, babies is like white children." "No!" said she, enabled to offer greater inducements to the citizens of Wilwith an emphasis as if she was dictating to her cook, mington and of the State generally, to buy at home, than "I don't care what's in 'em, all I want is books to fill has ever before been offered. Goods for the interior will be them shelves that has got red backs, and will look genteel in my librarium."

There was no mistaking that order, and this time the "red backs" went, and are probably now adorning one of our "homes of art, taste and refinement." Think of it, ye shades of Shakspeare, Burns, Byron, Moore and brother worthies, your brain bought by the square inch!

It would be hard to distinguish these boys from American born negros in a crowd. Indeed, we are confident that not one in a hundred could

The excitement at Harper's Ferry on Thursday night was caused by the burning of a wheat stack about three miles from Charlestown. The military and populace were called to arms, and the wildest terror prevailed among the people, the supposition being that Col. Davis had some information of approaching danger. The panic of the people extended to Col. Davis, and a messenger was sent by him to the Ferry with a despatch for the governor, calling for two companies of cavalry. The fire was found to have been the work of an unknown incendiary, but no person could be found in the county on whom suspicion could rest. There are now one thousand men under arms at Harper's Ferry and Charlestown, and no enemy to be found to encounter. The troops from Alexandria arrived at Charlestown yesterday afternoon, and those sent by the way of Winchester are expected to-day. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company have sent Col. A. P. Shutt, with an armed posse, to Harper's Ferry, to guard the bridge and the property of the company at that point. There is much dissatisfaction expressed both at Harper's Ferry and at Charlestown, at the precipitate action of Col. Davis in sending despatches for troops, instead of first sending from whom I believe New York and Philadelphia are think they have been made to appear in a ridiculous out a posse to inquire into the cause of the fire. TURPENTINE-There has been little or no activity in the market since our last, and the limited receipts has mainly tended to keep prices up. In virgin, however, we have to report a decline, as it is now sold subject to a deduction of one-fifth on the price of yellow dip. We quote at $2 90 for yellow dip, $2 32 for virgin, and $1 75 for hard, per 280 lbs. -closing quiet at above prices. The transactions foot up only 1,629 bbls., as follows: Bbls. Yel. Dip. Virgin. Hard. Friday. 639. $2 90. $2 32. $1 75 Saturday. 80. 2 90. 2 32. 1 75 Monday. 670. 2 90. 2 32. 1 75 Wednesday. 240. 2 90. 2 32. 1 75 Wednesday .. 240..... 2 90...... 2 32...... 1 SPIRITS TURPENTINE-On Friday last the price gave way one cent, and the market since has ruled quiet at 41 cents per gallon. Receipts moderate, and we notice a fair stock in first hands. We quote sales of only 1530 bbls., viz:

Tuesday.... 500 " " 41 Rosin-After closing our review on Thursday last a lot of 400 bbls. Common changed hands at $1 124 per 310 lbs; and since then no public transactions have taken place in either grade. The scarcity of vessels, together with unfavorable news from abroad, has materially affected the market here, and buyers show no disposition to operate. In the absence of transactions the stock of all grades is accumulating in receivers hands, though the supply of Common is at present rather small. Our quotations in table must be considered as merely nominal.

TAR-Is in active request, and none worthy of report has been received since our last. Sells quick at $2 45 per bbl. BEEF CATTLE.—Continue about the same as last reported. But few have been brought to market, and butchers have only a moderate stock on hand. We quote at 5 to 6 cents per lb., according to quality. SHEEP are in some enquiry, and a prime article sells readily at $2 per head. BARRELS-For empty Spirits Turpentine barrels the de mand continues limited, and we notice a good supply in first hands. We quote sales since our last of two or three lots second hand ones, as they run, at $1 50 each, 90 days. Breswax-But little arriving, and we note a fair demand.

Sells at 28 to 30 cents per lb. CORN MEAL-None has been brought in from the country that we are aware of, and there is only a light supply on about the same as quoted on that day ;—at the close, however, buyers do not appear disposed to operate unless at a The transactions comprise only 497 bales at 104 cents for good ordinary, 104 cents for low middling, 104 cents for good ordinary, 10% cents for low middling, 10% cents for middling, 10f to 11 cents for strict middling, and 11 a 11f cents lets, and there is a fair demand. Last sale was at $7 25 for oak bbis. FLOUR-In the market for State brands we have not new to report. The arrivals continue meagre, and there is little or none remaining in first hands; still we notice merely a retail demand, and the sales since our last have been confied to small parcels from store and wharf at $6 25 for superfine and $6 50 per bbl. for family—the market closing niet at these prices.

GRAIN—In the Coun market we have no change of cons quence to report since our review of Thursday last. A cargo of 1600 bushels new was received on Friday last and changed hands at 90 cents per bushel. Dealers have only a small stock in store, and a fair demand exists. We quote at 85 to 90 cents per bushel, as in quality ;-we would remark, however, that only a prime article would bring our highest figure. OATS Are in moderate stock, and nothing doing except in the retail way. We quote nominally at 40 to 42 cents per bushel. - PEAS In the absence of receipts worthy of note, the supply in dealers hands has been nearly worked off, and is barely sufficient for present uses. There is a fair enquiry, and parcels would meet with ready sale at 80 to 85 cents per bushel, according to quality. ____ For clean the market remains without alteration; the market is moderately supplied at present, and we quote only small sales from store at 4 cents per lb. HAY-The market is rather poorly supplied with both Northern and Eastern make, and we note a fair demand few days since by a dealer, which is selling from wharf at $1, and from store at $1 05 to $1 10 per cask, as in quantity. MOLASSES-The market continues to be moderately supplied with Cuba, and we have to report only a retail business doing. Small sales from wharf at 24 cents per gallon. PRA NUTS-The arrivals since our last have been quite heavy, and, with less demand from buyers, prices have declined a shade. We quote sales at prices ranging from $1 20 s an active demand from dealers, and parcels would find at 12½ to 13 cents for hog round, and 1½ to 15 cents per lb.

A lot of 8 hhds. shoulders sold from wharf on Friday last at 8 cents per lb., 90 days .- LARD-The market is moderately supplied with both N. C. and Western make, and we notice merely a retail demand. Small sules of the former at 12} to 13 cents, and of the latter at 12 cents per lb .- PORK-For Northern the market rules quiet, and there is a fair stock in store. See table for prices. Several lots of fresh have been brought in, and sold from carts at 8 to 10 cents per lb.

SALT-In the absence of receipts the stock of both Liverpool ground and Alum has become materially reduced, and is at present quite light. For Liverpool there is a fair demand, and the market is firm at quotations in table. Alum sells from store at 25 cents per bushel, in quantities to suit. SHINGLES-No demand for shipment, and the market rules dull for both Common and Contract. Quotations in table are merely nominal.

TIMBER-None has been received since our last, and in consequence we have no sales to report. The stock in millers hands is very small, and is scarcely sufficient to keep the mills in operation. We notice a brisk demand, and high prices could be easily obtained.

FREIGHTS-Coastwise rates continue to rule very firm wing to the scarcity of vessels, and to Philadelphia we note a shade advance on spirits turpentine;—to other ports rates are about the same. See table.

Prof. Wood—Dear Sir: Your Hair Restorative has done much good in this part of the country. My hair has been slightly diminishing for several years, caused, I suppose, from a slight burn when I was quite an infant. I have been using your Hair Restorative for six weeks, and I find that, I have a fine head of hair now growing, after having used all other remedies known, to no effect. I think it the most valuable remedy now extant, and advise all who are afflicted that way to use your remedy.

THE FASHION FOR PANTS. THE PASHION FOR PANTS.

It is fair to presume that all Pants, cut in what is de nominated "tight style," introduced to customers the present season are remnants of old stock, kept over here; or, in wholesale houses North.

THE STYLE for this winter has a much more ample display of leg—the general cutline of the pants is bolder—it has none of the pinched and scanty appearance of last Spring, or, more especially of last Winter.

The assortment of fashionable Pants—newly made—embraces every price, from nine dollars to one dollar and fifty cents—now on exhibition at

Are We a Thankful People or Not? Thursday, the 24th instant, has been set apart by some twenty-five or twenty-six States, our own among the number, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer. There is abundant reason for thankfulness to the Author of All Good in the physical prosperity and the general healthfulness of our country. No epidemics have visited our towns or cities; few storms or floods have devastated our coasts or ruined our crops. Trade has been, at least remunerative, and industry has not gone without its accustomed reward. We have been at peace with foreign nations and our ships have pursued their course unmolested.

But there has also been ground for humiliation and for apprehension. If the physical elements have been at peace-if physical health has prevailed, the moral world has not been without its storms; the political world has not been without its feverish apprehensions And unfortunately the clouds that darken our national skies have not yet passed away. Their shadows still hang over us. From their dark bosoms still come forth the angry mutterings of that thunder which appals the timid, and causes even the firmest to pause and take

With everything for which a nation ought to be thankful-blessed with health, wealth and prosperity, can we trnly say that on Thursday next the twenty-six millions inhabiting the twenty-six States that will keep that day as one of thanksgiving and prayer will do so in a truly thankful and prayerful spirit. Will they evince their love and gratitude to their Maker by cherishing kind and loving feelings towards their fellow-men? Can we hope for such a consummation, when we see day by day the growing evidences of alienation between the different sections of the country,-between the different States of the Union? Can a true and acceptable gratitude to God animate the breasts of a Northern congregation who meet together to give thanks that they are not as other men, nor even as these slave-holders-can these people feel a true brotherly love towards those whom they daily denounce and against whom they hourly conspire? On the other hand, can the Southern christian feel as he ought to feel when he thinks on these things-when he sees all the means and appliances of peace and prosperity marred by political meddling or sectional fanaticism Can he then make the charitable allowances that he might otherwise do for the influence of early teachings. uncorrected by actual knowledge.

As a people, we of all the peoples on earth stand most in need of a true spirit of thankfulness-a true know ledge of the blessings we enjoy. Although the Fourth of July orator celebrates the praises of the glorious Union in glowing periods, it must be apparent to all that our people have no "realizing sense" of the blessings or advantages that Union is supposed to confer and certainly might confer if only left to itself. The people of the United States are restive in the harness by which they have voluntarily yoked themselves to the car of state. and the common bonds that unite them are, by this restiveness become fast chafed and weakened.

Say now on Thursday next, people go to Church in Virginia and in Massachusetts, how many in Virginia will thank the Lord for uniting them in one Federal bond with a people who denounce them and war against their institutions and their domestic tranquility? Who in Massachusetts will truly thank God for his political Union with the people of the Southern States, who maintain and perpetuate what he has been taught to believe and what he teaches others to believe is the crying sin and peculiar iniquity of the age.

Brownsville, Texas.

This place, formerly Fort Brown, was named in honor of Major Brown, commander of the U.S. garrison, who was mortally wounded by a shell from the Mexican batteries in 1846, while General Taylor with the main body of the force was engaged in opening a communication with point Isabel, from which it is about 30 miles distant. It is on the left bank and 40 miles from the mouth of the Rio Grande, opposite Matamoros. It has nominally a population of 5,000 and a large trade with Mexico, the secret of its business being that it is the great depot for goods intended to be smuggled over the river into Mexican territory, and the Brownsville Flag says that though they have five thousand inhabitants hundred on the census roll, and of these there are not over three hundred who are not of Mexican origin. In old enough to bear arms, to be found in the place. The greater part of the population of Mexican origin are fugitives from Mexico, peones, ladrones, etc., an idle, vicious, depraved, ignorant, thievish population, known by the general name of pelados, a word, the meaning of which we do not understand. It is this miserable popuand the United States, that has created all the difficulty. Minor Sources, $36,794 88; Mail, $2,137 50. Brownsville is the county seat of Cameron county, which contains not one person to a square mile, being mostly uninhabited, if not considerably uninhabitable. The military force formerly stationed at Brownsville was removed some time since on account of the unhealth-

It is quite probable that before this time, a force of United States and Texan troops is on the ground, fully sufficient to chastise any Mexican banditti which may be found on the American side of the Rio Grande; but renewal of these predatory attacks may be anticipated, advance upon that now presented for 1858-'59. since we know that there are no authorities in Mexico, with either the power or the inclination to prevent such things, while the border population is of a class to indulge in them whenever they can do so with impunity. Brownsville is three hundred miles from Austin, the Capital of Texas, and the portion of that State between the Neuces and the Rio Grande is altogether too sparsely settled by Americans to be able at all to protect itself. There is but one alternative—the permanent maintenance of a force of rangers or mounted rifles for the protection of the border settlements, for to this protection they certainly have a right.

P. S.—It will be seen by our despatch that Brownsville is safe, and Cortinas safe-hung.

It has been frequently the case of late years that Congress, paying little or no attention to the official estimates submitted by the President and the heads of departments has loaded the Treasury with demands to paratively unprovided for. The injustice of this procedure becomes doubly apparent when the administration is held responsible for extravagances to which it was perhaps opposed or for neglects not at all chargable to it.

The next session of Congress will be one of the most stormy in the history of the country. The elements of it yet. which the new Congress will be composed certainly leave ground for serious apprehensions upon this score, and, as this is the President-making Congress, it is much to be feared that too much attention may be paid to the manufacture of political capital, and too little to considerations connected with the public good. We can only hope for a better result, without having any great confidence in its being brought about. The indications already becoming apparent, lead us to fear that the very queerly made up opposition majority in the House of Re esentatives will be more inclined to embarrass the President, than to serve the country by promptly providing the proper amount of means for the efficient carrying on of the public business, and the maintenance of the public credit.

> HARPER'S FERRY.—The reports from Charlestown add another feature to the Harper's Ferry affair, and certainly go far to confirm the worst apprehensions entertained on the score of Northern sympathy with "old Brown" and his banditti. There seems to be little question of the fact that a body of armed men are in the neighborhood of Charlestown, Va., and as little that they are there for a sinister purpose, namely, the rescue of the convicted murderers now in the jail of Jefferson county awaiting the execution of the sentence passed

If this is to be "the beginning of the end"-if actutual force is to be applied, it is, perhaps, as well that it should come now as at any later period, for the relative strength of the North and the South can never again be better balanced, nor can the South be ever more able to repel aggression than she is now.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE AT NASHVILLE.—We regret to learn says the Wilson Ledger of the 17th inst..) that on Frida night last the county seat of Nash was visited by a fire which did considerable damage before it could be suppressed. The fire, we understand, originated in the back part of a build ing occupied, in the lower story, by Mr. Ioerson J. Harriss as a grocery, and in the upper, by Mr. Red Conway as a carriage shop. In a very short time after the discovery of the fire the flames were communicated to the Eagle Hotel, a large and substantial structure, owned by Mr. B. H. Blount, of Hilliardston, and leased by our friend W. R. Williams, for a house of entertainment. These buildings were entirely consumed with almost all their contents. We deeply sympathize with Mr. Williams, whose loss is very heavy,-the c., being burned. We have no means of arriving at any lose estimate of the aggregate loss sustained in this fire, though we suppose it must be quite large. Only prompt and vigorous exertions prevented the further spread of the devouring element. It was undoubtedly the work of an incen-diary.

DEATH OF MAJOR MORELL.-Major William H. Morrell died at St. Catherines, Canada West, on the 7th. Major Morell was born in Lenox, Mass., and was formerly, as an engineer, connected with many works of internal improve ment in various sections of the United States. The saw-dust from the mills was formerly considered great nuisance to the mill owners, who hardly knew how o get rid of it, and to river fisheries, which it greatly incred when thrown into the river. Now, however, it is turned to good account, and the ashes command quite a fair price for manure. It appears that at day light Saturday last, John J. Gilmore, son of Wm. L. Gilmore, aged about 21 years, and a son of W. N. Whitted, aged 13 or 14, started out hunting, at 12 o'clock; being tired they lay down in a shade with their guns by them, and hearing some rustling among the leaves, both started up suddenly, taking hold of their guns and perhaps cocking them. As they rose young Whitted's gun fired—the whole load entering Gilmore's stomach and passing up towards his left shoulder and lodged there. This was the only testimony given to the jury of inquest, and was the declaration of young Gilmore before his death which happened a short time after dark; his extreme suffering caused the examination to be brief.

A VEGETABLE GUIDE.—A little plant is found upon the praries of Texas, called the "compass flower," which, un der all circumstances of climate, changes of weather, rain frost or sun-hine, invariably turnes its flowers and leaves to wards the North, thus affording an unerring guide to the traveler who, unaided by the needle, seeks to explore those vast plains alone.

low A Corn Crop.—A correspondent who has lately been through fifteen of the south-eastern counties of Iowa, says "The corn crop is almost universally good—say forty or fif ty bushels per acre. Corn is selling in Van Buren county a 10 cents a bushel, and in other counties 15 or 18 cents, de livered in towns. Buckwheat, potatoes, turnips, &c., are abundant. Wheat is not half a crop in the river counties. The hog crop is large. It is estimated for the fifteen counties named at 150,000. It is also estimated that 20,000 head of beeves will be fed this winter. The crop of sorghum syrup is estimated in those counties to be worth from $10,- Bulwer Lytton is also a believer in spirits, mediums, and the rest. Fir Edward is the author of a story in a recent number of Blackwood, entitled "The Haunted and the Haunters ; or. The House and the Brain. The theory of this story is that minds at a distance can manifest their will in a mysterious and awful manner on the minds of others present on the scene of momentous actions n which the haunter has borne a part. ABOLITION PETITIONS.—In New York, Monday night, at a union prayer meeting held in the lecture room of Dr. Cheever's church, argent prayers were offered on behalf of John Brown and his associates, and two petitions were informally signed requesting Gov. Wise to interpose executive clemen-cy to prevent the operation of the sentence of death. The cy to prevent the operation of the sentence of death. The meeting thoroughly endorsed the spirit of the Harper's Ferry invaders. A black woman was among the speakers. A meeting of abelitionists was held at the Cooper Institute to consult as to the best method of liberating the condemned, and to secure the passage of a personal liberty bill.

Judge Ruffin's Letter of Resignation. The Raleigh Standard says :- "We are indebted to the courtesy of His Excellency, Gov. Ellis, for a copy of Judge Ruffin's letter of resignation, which will be found below. We learn that the Governor has notified the members of the Council of State to meet in Raleigh on tie 6th of next month, to fill the vacancy:

ALAMANCE, November 5th, 1859. Sir:—It is my duty, I think, to resign the office of a Judge of the Supreme Court, and I now do so.

The office has been so recently accepted by me, that its resignation-especially during the recess of the Genera! Assembly—seems to require a word of explanation, which, trust, you will allow me to offer.

The call to the station at the last session of the Legisla ture I regarded as so high an honor that with my habitua deference for that body and my desire to serve my country, when I could do so usefully, I could not then decline it.—
But, certainly, I undertook it with much misgiving as to my capacity to perform its duties to my own satisfaction for any considerable period. You are aware, and the whole profession must know, that the place is one which not only requires learning and ability, but is also full of labor, to which health of body, as well as mind, is indispensable. At my age that was hardly to be expected, and the experience of the year evinces that I am not an exception to the common rule. I have had considerable indisposition during each term of the Court, which I am obliged to attribute mainly, at least as to its duration, to the labors belonging to the office; and during the two summer terms I have suffered from a cough and fever, threatening a permanent decline and materially interfering with the discharge of my official duties. I ought, perhaps, to have laid down office at the adjournment of the Court at Morganton; and I would have done it had I not thought myself obliged, under the hope of reperiod. You are aware, and the whole proadjournment of the Court at Morganton; and I would have done it had I not thought myself obliged, under the hope of regaining health, to serve as long as I could without improperly restricting your Excellancy in the period you might wish for the selection of a successor. The interval has not resulted in such improvement as would justify me in longer deferring my resignation. I find I have taken on me too much, and I am satisfied that I ought now to resign. For it would be against the principle of my whole life to hold office without a moral certainty of doing its duties to the satisfaction of intelligent and good men, so as to reflect back on the country some and good men, so as to reflect back on the country some portion, at least, of the honor conferred by so high a public trust. I cannot, therefore, anticipate the censure of a single one of my fellow-citizens for seeking, in such a condition of things, to be discharged from service.

I must add that I retire both with regret and the deepes sense of obligation to the Legislature and the people of the State for the oft-repeated proofs of their confidence, and with an earnest prayer to Almighty God for peace and pros-

I am, with great consideration, Your Excellency's most obedient servant, His Excellency, Gov. ELLIS, Raleigh, N. C.
